

Writing with Resist

with Julie Wildman

This is a class that will focus on gestural writing and how to free up your traditional letterforms, while exploring several resist techniques that will enhance your writing.

From monoline to brush, traditional to funky, we will explore new ways to bring life to your lettering. Using monoline tools, broad-edged nibs, pointed brushes, and unusual tools students will be led through a series of exercises that will focus not only on the lettering but on layout, composition and the negative space that is created. Principles of design will be used as we discuss where the next letter or word should go, what makes a pleasing composition, and where and when to add color.

Julie Wildman is a highly regarded professional in the fields of graphic design, calligraphy and workshops. She graduated with a BA in Graphic Design from Columbia College in Chicago and worked for many years with two Chicago Design firms. She currently works as a freelance designer and lettering artist from her home studio near Chicago.

Thinking 'outside the box' when it comes to lettering is one of Julie's favorite things to do. She also loves line, shape, color, texture, paper, ink, and paint and often can't believe she gets to play with them for a living!
